Life changing work.

OTFC

A note from our Founder & CEO

At Occupational Therapy for Children, life changing fun refers to an experience or activity that goes beyond ordinary enjoyment and brings about profound and transformative effects in a person's life. It combines the elements of joy, excitement, and fulfilment with a deeper impact on an individual's wellbeing, personal growth, and overall perspective.

What we do here at OTFC has the potential to make a significant, positive difference in the lives of those who engage with it. Therapy is designed to empower and inspire individuals, leading to tangible improvements in physical, emotional, cognitive, or social aspects of their lives.

After many years of providing this service, we have seen that what we do here is a catalyst for transformative change and personal growth, encouraging individuals to embrace the therapeutic journey and find greater joy and meaning in their lives.

The words are hard to find to capture the feeling of what we do and who we are, but we have spent a lot of time trying. The words on these pages have been spoken from our team and it is with great pride that we present them to you.

What we know to be true of this team of exceptionally talented humans is that they will support you and they will genuinely care for you. They want you to be the very best you can be – how awesome is that.

Work is not work when you are having fun, learning, and contributing value to the world. For us – it's simply life changing fun.

Dino & Michelle Mennillo

We do occupational therapy a little differently. Better.

Imagine a young human...

A small being who is still learning how to move, think, and interact with their world. Sometimes, their body or brain doesn't work in the way they want it to. Maybe they struggle to hold a pencil, make a friend, or understand the signals their own body is giving them. This can make life feel harder than it should be.

That's where we come in.

At OTFC, we are guides, builders, and explorers. We help these young humans develop the skills they need to live, learn, and play with confidence. We do this through something very special: play. The universal language of learning for all young beings.

We use movement, games, and creative activities to help them practice life in a way that feels fun, safe, and exciting. We don't just teach skills; we help unlock belief in themselves. But it's not always easy and fun. Our expertise is in knowing how to straddle the line between success and failure in every task because we know that humans grow when they are challenged beyond their perceived capabilities. We show them how to climb higher, connect deeper, and discover what they are truly capable of.

But we don't do this alone. We work with their families, caregivers, and other experts, creating a powerful support network around them. Because humans thrive when they understand what is possible.

At OTFC, we don't just help young people do things—they become more of who they are meant to be. They learn to trust their own abilities, feel strong in their own skin, and see the world as a place full of possibility.

And when that happens, it's not just therapy. It's magic.

The boy, wearing a red shirt and dark shorts, is sitting on the mat and holding onto a thick red rope that hangs from above.
